Paid Breaks

On Monday November 9th Management said the reason for the change was “to improve communications and also the unions demands.” Michael Mullen HR November 9th, 2014

The union’s demand of pay for the 5 minute student break is based on the law. You do work at that time, so you must be compensated.

We applaud Berlitz for announcing that they will start following the law this coming March.

If you haven’t yet done so, reserve a seat for the upcoming PAID information sessions on November 26, 27, 28 and December 1 in Hamamatsucho LC or on November 25, December 2, 3, and 4 at Shinjuku LC.

At the sessions thank management for finally following the law and ask them why they decided to start following the law in March.

How about all the work you did outside of class time since you started?
